THE SECURITY AFFAIRS SUPPORT ASSOCIATION

6 October 1988

WELCOME!

Once more SASA is grateful for the opportunity to arrange a forum of high interest for our membership --and we are especially pleased that you could be present to participate.

As you are aware, the theme of our program is "GLASNOST AND PERESTROIKA - IMPLICATIONS FOR U.S. INTELLIGENCE". The undergirding rationale for the theme is that relations between the United States and the Soviet Union are in a process of change. Whatever the changes, national security considerations will be preeminently involved. SASA believes that its members have a special interest in learning more about those changes and how they might impact our current and future intelligence modus and program developments. Some changes are now perceived, others may be emerging but have yet to take definite form and still more may only be speculated. The objective of the Fall '88 Symposium is to examine the aforementioned categories of changes--those that now appear to be of substance and those of future possibility--hopefully gaining from that examination some perspective on their implications for U.S. Intelligence.

To assist us in attaining the program objective, we have been extraordinarily fortunate in gaining the participation of authorities who are currently discharging responsibilities which directly involve critical aspects of our theme. To them we are exceedingly grateful.

Finally, we wish to express our deepest appreciation to Bob Lamb and his staff for their efforts in making it possible to present the Fall program at the Department of State.

John N. McMahon
President

ABOUT THE ASSOCIATION. . .

The movement to create SASA was spearheaded in the late Seventies by Leonard Moodispaw who had served a number of years with the National Security Agency prior to entering private law practice. While at NSA, Moodispaw's duties brought him in daily contact with representatives of industry who either provided services and/or material to the agency or who were seeking opportunities to do so. Early on Moodispaw became convinced that many of the problems in the area of classified acquisitions between government agencies and industry might be ameliorated and many perhaps eliminated by a more common understanding among the parties concerned. It was that fundamental idea that encouraged Moodispaw, assisted by a number of associates in government and industry to "lay the keel" of the Security Affairs Support Association. Some of the early assistant "architects" of SASA were Robert Welte (Now President, LORAL Electronic Systems), Ira Kane (now Consultant), Kent Keith (Vice President, Business Development, HARRIS) and Harry Letaw (President, Severn Communications).

SASA was chartered by the State of Maryland in April 1979. The first President of the association was Robert Singel (1980-1981). He was succeeded by Joseph Hull (1981-1983), followed by Robert Hermann (1983-1986). The first Board Chairman was Wayne Shelton (1981-1983), the second, Robert Welte (1983-1986), and the third, Vincent Cook (1986-1987).

Although its creation dates only from 1979, SASA has become an active and useful force in the Intelligence Community. Satisfying a communications need long felt in the community, issues of interest to government and industry alike have been and are being discussed in its forum. Key operational, administrative and financial issues of concern to its membership have been openly explored. One of SASA's early achievements was the development of an innovative study of the opportunities to improve classified contracting. This effort contributed in a quietly effective way toward the solution of problems in the area.

In 1984, SASA inaugurated its award program when the DCI presented the SASA Medal of Achievement to Dr. William Oliver Baker "for his enduring contributions to National Security and Freedom". The medal is now designated the William Oliver Baker Award and is presented annually to an individual from government, industry or academe who has performed distinguished service in support of the national intelligence endeavor. Senator Barry Goldwater received the award in 1985, Ambassador Vernon Walters in 1986, Ambassador Richard Helms in 1987 and Dr. Edwin Land in 1988.

SASA continues to pursue its objective of "enhancing relationships and understanding" among all who support the national intelligence endeavor, through a series of symposia on topics of high current interest. Themes addressed include TACTICAL INTELLIGENCE and RELATED ACTIVITIES (TIARA)SOFTWARE TRENDS in the INTELLIGENCE COMMUNITYINTELLIGENCE SUPPORT to NATOINFOSEC FOR THE NINETIESSECURITY TRENDS and IMPACTSTECHNOLOGY SECURITYMANAGING CHANGE and TECHNOLOGY SHORTFALLS IN INTELLIGENCE ARCHITECTURES.

In January 1987, SASA implemented its Security Support Program. Under this program, SASA receives from its members, on a non-attribution basis, generic unclassified industrial security issues and problems for appropriate action. The program is fully described in the January 1987 issue of the SASA newsletter.

SASA is a non-profit professional association, operated by its members through an elected Board of Directors who manage its affairs and programs in accordance with its By-Laws. The activities of the association and other topics of interest are reported in its newsletter -COLLOQUY.
